HALL & HUEBEL

Man's Work and Personality.

A man's work, if it is worth while, is always larger than he is. The breadth and height of it expands the consideration of himself. He can think of nothing but the goal. The Wright brothers became the leading aviators of the world because they worked most of the time, instead of talking about work. They were undaunted by failure. They did not seek their energies in several lines of effort, but they did just one thing, and so they succeeded.

Improving.

We think the world is growing better. There seems to be an increasing determination to make the other fellow do what is right.—Luck.

Uncle Eben's Wisdom.

"Wit some folks," said Uncle Eben, "optimism is do day before pay day, and pessimism is do day after."

Unfortunate Predicament.

"Could you give a starving woman work?" "Yes," answered a girl to a scrub." "Too bad," said this girl's parlor maid.

OPEN MEETING, ROUTINE WORK

INTERESTING DISCUSSION RE-SERVED FOR COMMITTEE ROOM.

DISCUSS BRIDGE QUESTION

Legal Opinion Read in Open Meeting But Other Questions Are Tackled in Secret.

Three quarters of an hour devoted to business and routine work in a semi-public session in the committee room resulted in the transaction of a moderate amount of routine work and a very thorough thrashing over of a number of troublesome questions now up for settlement at the regular meeting of the common council last night. What decision the city fathers reached with regard to the matters discussed, and it is understood that the proposed Fourth Avenue bridge, the late police hospital and the choice of paving materials were brought up, is not known as no action was taken in open meeting. All the addressees were present at the session last night which was adjourned until Thursday evening at eight o'clock when the matter of school licenses for the coming year will be brought up.

Perhaps the most important matter brought up outside of the committee room was the question of whether or not the council has the power to replace the old Fourth Ave. bridge, levy a tax and issue bonds for the same without calling a special election. This perplexing point came up when the addressees inspected the bridge, in order to remove all doubts as regards the council's power. Mayor Carlo secured the opinion of the firm of Jeffries, Mount Smith and Avery which he read at the meeting last night.

According to the opinion, setting aside the more complex legal points, the council has this power but there is just sufficient doubt raised by certain provisions in the charter granting this power to the city that will allow any taxpayer to secure an injunction against the city and the up the whole proceedings, that is, if the taxpayer wishes to do this. And again, this uncertainty with respect to the council's right, might result in prospective purchasers backing out of the bonds. The general impression made by the opinion upon the council members was, that the city has the power to replace the bridge without calling a special election but that it would be wise to adopt the safe course and submit the question to the people.

"Who cleans the public alleys?" was the question propounded by Alderman Sheridan at the request of the street commissioner. According to that official, he does not know to whom he shall charge the expense of hauling away the refuse which abutting property owners are in the habit of dumping into the alleys. According to City Attorney Maxfield, the city must keep the public alleys clean but no property owner has a right to dump refuse of any kind in the alley and may be prosecuted if he does so. Alderman Sheridan, however, was not looking for any legal opinion but simply wished to find out how to shift the expense to some one other than the city and looked kindly on Alderman Dullin's suggestion that the cost be charged to the property owner nearest to whose land the refuse was found.

Another stumbling block in the way of the righteous as well as the unrighteous will be removed as the result of a resolution introduced by Alderman Dullin and carried unanimously calling upon the owner of the property at the south east corner of W. Milwaukee and Academy streets to remove the wooden sidewalk or platform in front of the building known as the Alamo and replace the same with a standard sidewalk. Other sidewalks ordered were: on the north side of E. Milwaukee St., in front of lots 1 and 2, Dawson's subdivision; on the west side of Milton Ave., in front of part of lot 20, Partridge's subdivision and farming lands south and adjacent to the same, owned by Helen C. Manning; on the east side of East St., in front of that part of lot 2, block 7, original plat of Janesville; and on the west side of N. Main St., in front of lots 2, 3 and 4, block 40 and north one-half of street south of same in the original plat of Janesville.

It was also decided to improve Fifth Ave., from Glen St., to Walker St., in the second ward, by the laying of cement gutters and curbs, and the street commissioner was directed to repair the following streets under the direction of the chairman of the ward: Race, from Jackson to Academy; River, from Race to Olive; Olive from River to Washington; W. Buff from River to the railroad tracks; Mineral Point Ave., from River to the city limits; Pearl from Rayline to Elizabeth; Washington from Mineral Point to city limits; and Chatham from Rayline to Mineral Point Ave. He was also directed to lay a cement gutter across Center St., on the east side of Center Ave., repair the sidewalk on the Milwaukee St. bridge, furnish a team, to operate the road grader, on improvements ordered in the third ward; and lay a standard brick cross walk across the alley in Doe's subdivision, lot 177. Smith Bailey and Stone's addition on the east side of Academy St.

Expenditures authorized were: the usual amount of bills, salaries of city officers for the month of June, $294 to the Bureau of Adding, Machine Co. for the William M. Bell fund; an estimate from the first ward fund for damages to six lots on S. Franklin St. It was also decided to transfer $207.34 from the interest account fund to the general fund, purchase a car load each of crossing plates and paving brick, and a travel for the engineering department.

The notice of an appeal in the claim of A. E. Badger against the city was laid on the table. Oscar Hand's bond to run a second hand store on N. Main St., was accepted, as was the report of the superintendent of the stone crusher and the petition of D. W. Bocher to run a pop corn stand on the Corn Exchange, which Antinous-like, rises from the table with renewed strength every time it is laid there, was again tabled with a thump. In conclusion, with a resolution introduced by Ald. Donahoe, steps will be taken to compel the C. M. & St. Paul Ry. to rebuild the smoke stack on the round house which was blown down by a high gust of wind this spring and which caused heavy clouds of soft coal smoke to billow about nearby residences to the extreme discomfort of the residents.

Wash Goods

The hot weather has created a great demand for white and colored novelty wash dress goods of all descriptions.

Anticipating such a hot spell we kept up our usual full assortments and at the present time have the best assorted line to select from.

Never before has there been such a scarcity of new, desirable wash fabrics. Every day we have people come back to us, saying that they have been all over town and can't find any such assortment as is to be found here.

It will be worth while to call.

THOUSANDS DIE OF CHOLERA.

Plague Spreading Throughout Southern Russia to America Extent.

Odesa, June 28.—The cholera situation in the south of Russia is so serious that physicians are predicting the worst scourge of the last generation before frost checks the spread.

CLAIMS ARE WIDE APART

REPUBLICANS DISPUTE CHARGE CONGRESS PASSED BILLION DOLLAR MARK.

ANNUAL REVIEW IS ISSUED

Tawney Declares Actual Appropriations Reached Only $893,120,761—Gore Inquiry Gets Under Way—Hitchcock to Hasten Postal Banks.

Washington, June 28.—Republican claim—Actual probable fixed charge against the revenues during the fiscal year of 1911, $893,120,761.

Democratic claim—Congress at the session just closed again passed the billion dollar high water mark.

Both Parties Agree—Appropriations for expenses of the government made during the past session aggregate $1,027,133,446.

These contentions epitomize the annual review of national appropriations and expenditures, made public by Chairman Tawney of the appropriations committee of the house and ranking Democratic member of that Representative Livingston of Georgia committee.

Tawney Reduces Figures. Mr. Tawney's fixed-charge statement is based on deducting from the aggregate the authorizations which carry no appropriations.

Mr. Tawney asserted that a summary of the constructive legislation of the first regular session of the Sixty-first congress constitutes a record of accomplishments surpassing in importance any previous session in the history of congress. Mr. Livingston denounced what he called a large increase on account of public expenditures, an increase of the public debt—"half a billion dollars spent for militarism and the treasury drained for army and navy."

Gore Investigation On. The senate committee created to investigate the legislation concerning Indian contracts discussed the matter at considerable length, and tried to frame its plans, but made little headway. The time and place of hearing and the method of procedure will be determined later.

The committee announced that it will not as promptly as circumstances will permit, and that it will make a thorough investigation within the limits of the Hughes resolution. The scope of the senate investigation is limited to whether any senator, during his term of office, has been interested in or connected with legislation affecting the approval of Indian contracts, or has done anything because of such interest, and whether any improper attempt to prevent or procure the passage of the bill affecting the approval of Indian contracts have been made at the session of congress just closed.

Rushes Postal Banks. Postmaster General Hitchcock declared that he will push as rapidly as possible the organization of the postal savings bank system. He added, however, that he did not believe it would be feasible to establish any depositories for some months.

No Subsidy Corruption. After three months of hearings the house committee to investigate charges reflecting on members of congress in connection with ship subsidy legislation closed its Washington sessions with an unofficial announcement to counsel that it had found no corruption on the part of any member of congress.

TRIES TO SLAY CONGRESSMAN.

One Member Cuban House Makes Attack on Another.

Havana, June 28.—Just before the house of representatives opened congress Manuel Lora of Santiago province approached Antonio San Miguel, congressman from Pinar del Rio province and editor of the Lucha, the most influential newspaper in Cuba in the chamber and exclaimed: "Hello, San Miguel, I am glad to see you here."

Before Senator San Miguel could reply, Lora whipped a revolver from his pocket and shot at him. The bullet missed its mark.

In a turmoil of excitement Lora was disarmed and his friends hurried him away. The attack on Miguel is said to be the result of a duel being called off which had been arranged between Lora and Miguel.

Iowa Jewelers at Des Moines. Des Moines, Ia., June 28.—The Iowa Retail Jewelers' association met in annual session today in the Coliseum, where one-half of the hall has been filled with an attractive trade display. The state association of optometrists is meeting with the jewelers. N. Nielsen of Harlan, president of the jewelers, is presiding over the sessions, and a program has been arranged for the four days in which the following topics will be discussed: "How to Raise the Standard and Ability of the Coming Generation of Watchmakers," "Ways and Means of Improving Business Conditions," "Show Window Decoration," "Show Card Writing," "Business Methods," "Parcels Post," "Express Rates" and "Trusts."

Double Money on Big Farm. Sterling, Ill., June 28.—David L. and John W. Martin sold a farm of 400 acres near Sterling to Charles Knox for $80,000. The brothers purchased the farm three years ago for $33,842.

LA FOLLETTE TALKS WITH COL. ROOSEVELT

Politics From "Insurgent" Standpoint Is Subject of Conference, Senator Admits.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 28.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin spent two hours with Col. Theodore Roosevelt and when he left Oyster Bay he was wearing a broad smile.

Senator La Follette arrived with G. E. Hoar, a New York lawyer, who was formerly his law partner. Colonel Roosevelt's chauffeur was waiting for them, and checked them away to Sagamore Hill. The senator had pulled his hat down over his eyes and tried to escape unseen. But he was caught fairly at it by a group of newspaper men. They tackled him on suspicion, although nobody recognized him, for his hat hid his famous pompadour.

"Not a word," he said. "I'm going to Sagamore Hill, but I don't want a word said about it."

When he returned, just a time to catch a train for New York, he was smiling his most expansive, pleasant smile. "It's all right, boys," he cried joyfully. "The colonel says I may 'talk with you.'"

"Did we talk politics?" he replied to the first question. "We did."

"We talked of the legislation of the present session of congress, from the attitude of those members of the Republican party whom the newspapers are pleased to call 'insurgents.'"

"Can you go into details?" "No; I prefer that they come from Sagamore Hill. I am very much pleased with the result of my visit with Colonel Roosevelt, very much pleased, indeed."

The senator paused for a moment. Suddenly the smile left his face for the first time and he said impressively: "I want to tell you that Colonel Roosevelt is the great living American, and," he added slowly and significantly, "he is in fighting trim."

THE MONETARY SITUATION.
Henry Claws, the New York banker, has this to say about financial conditions:

"Monetary conditions are exceptionally favorable both here and abroad. As many stocks are paying 6 per cent at present prices and bonds 5 per cent, it follows that money is better invested in these than in time or call loans. The condition of the local banks is being steadily strengthened by increasing reserves, and a contraction in loans. The monetary situation abroad is also especially favorable, as funds are accumulating and interest rates declining.

"At the West there has been an improvement in the banking situation. Leading bankers there have been pursuing a policy of retrenchment, and while the situation in that district has not yet entirely cleared up, there is greater confidence than a month ago. July disbursements were estimated at over $200,000,000, or more than $18,000,000 in excess of a year ago. This, too, was a factor of some importance in the investment market. Very shortly business men and financiers of a good deal of anxiety.

"President Taft is closing the second congressional session of his term with much greater credit than at one time expected. Inadvertently the president some time ago referred to the new tariff as 'the best ever,' an opinion not shared by many of his friends. What he no doubt really meant was that the new tariff was the best that could be secured at that time. The temporary and limited loss of popularity produced by this misconception has already been more than recovered by the president's recent legislative successes. The passage of the tariff bill, the railroad bill and the postal savings bill, not to speak of minor measures, can all be traced to Mr. Taft's ability, tact and perseverance, and have added immensely to his political strength.

"One of the best elements of the situation is the changed tendency in our foreign trade. The country is gradually getting down to an export basis, permitting a more normal international commerce than has been experienced for many months. With a liquidation and decline in commodities, which should tend to still further lower the cost of living, the probability is that our imports will contract while exports expand; thus permitting a larger influx of gold next fall if that be necessary to offset any stringency should it come.

"Europe is taking a more kindly interest in our financial undertakings, and seems quite ready to participate moderately in the better class of American issues. Other stimulating influences which can be cited are the settlement of the railroad question through passage of President Taft's bill; the probability that the railroads will later on secure a reasonable advance in rates."

Congress has adjourned, since the letter was written, and the busy lawmakers will no longer attract attention and distract the public mind. The railroads have already filed their new schedules with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and are preparing for a vigorous campaign.

The nation is in a prosperous condition and but for the unrest which exists as the result of agitation, the outlook for business was never more promising.

NOT ALL SUNSHINE.
That the life of a congressman is not all sunshine is apparent from the following letter from a Texas farmer to his representative as published in Success Magazine:

"Dear sir will you please send me some envelopes with my name on so I want have to put any stamps on them I would like to have envelopes without putting names on I will pay just as much as the stamped envelopes cost you can have the place where the stamp is to be put paid 2c and send them to me I want white envelopes I want them I can mail without stamps I will pay them just the same if as the stamped ones are or like the ones I have to put the stamps on them I would be glad to have them free or I will pay for them if you want I want envelopes just like the postmasters have and do not need to put any stamps on I can pay for them I want white paper envelopes with my name on the left side just like you put your hair I want about a dozen or two also please tell me how to care for them and please of the Mangle machine has them something else and I have put something on them but could not help them also please tell me how to train pointers I will have some soon and want to have them well trained to quail I would like to have some fish which I can keep them in small water all the time without dying such as barrels tanks ect and want to eat and how to make them grow fast I will close very truly,

Candidates for county offices begin to pop up all over the county. One of the latest is Stanley G. Dunwiddie, for district attorney, the present incumbent, John L. Fisher, refusing to become a candidate for reelection. Mr. Dunwiddie is one of the younger members of the bar, a son of the late Judge Benjamin Dunwiddie, and is a young man of exceptional ability. He is a graduate of the university law department and should receive the hearty endorsement of republicans all over the county.

With Grant U. Fisher already in the field for the assembly from the second district, and Charles Gault announced on the loyalty to Taft platform in the third, and L. J. Whittey of Edgerton the only candidate in the first, the republicans of Rock county will have three sterling republicans, whose value and worth is known, to vote for this coming primary day.

Loyalty to Taft is the watchword of the republican campaign committee that has opened its headquarters in Milwaukee under the management of W. D. Connor. Loyalty to Taft means loyalty to the republican principles which have made the G. O. P. famous throughout the world. It is a good slogan to shout for from now until election day in November.

Senator La Follette had a pleasant visit with Colonel Roosevelt yesterday at Oyster Bay and it is said that politics formed a part of the conversation. The anti-Taft papers are making a great "do do" over the meeting which evidently was a pleasant meeting of a social nature.

Evidently the city attorney is after both the mayor and chief of police when he seeks support of the common council to have them cited to appear before the fire and police commission. It is a cheap clip trap for notoriety.

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

I visited the sharp who makes arctic photographs and said: "I wish you'd drop all other fakes, and make a picture of my head."

LOOKING. He pushed some PLEASANT. seems to let in light, and I was to a chair as signed, a hughsome palace at my right, a canvas thundercloud behind. He screwed my dome of thought away, and gave my diaphragm a squeeze, and then I heard him bristle cry: "All ready, now—look pleasant, please!" My face had worn a look of gloom, but when I heard him cheerily call, I sprang a smile that filled the room, and dimmed the kawa lights in the hall. And when the photograph was made, that smile was placed on record there; the years may pass, it will not fade, and folks who see it will declare: "He must have been a pleasant guy! He smiled profusely and with vim; the world would be less bleak and gray, if there were more glad guys like him!" I keep the picture on the wall, where I can view it day by day, and when some evil thing befalls, it helps me drive the blues away. "I looked as glad as that one time," I mutter, as I tell away; "and it would be a beauty prime to look less happy any day."

A scowling face will gain no friends, nor banish war, nor heal disease, so, when a cloud of grief descends, set yourself: "Look pleasant, please!"

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.
WHEN TO LET GO.
Many a fine creation has been spoiled because the creator did not know when to let go.

Many a salesman has failed to book his order because he did not know when to quit talking to his customer.

Many a life has been spoiled because it has attempted to do that which is not worth while or impossible and lacked the courage to quit and begin over again.

We have a slang phrase which says, "God hates a quitter." And so he does, but it depends. If your work is practical and productive, if there is a prospect of success, hold on like grim death. Never let go save to split on your hands.

Let go with both hands. Every man who has done things has in some crisis of his career been compelled to quit for a time. When the time comes he lets go as you would drop a hot potato.

That wizard Edison will follow a line of light wherever it leads, but when it takes him into a blind alley he drops his interest instantly. He did that a score of times in trying to find the right wire for the incandescent bulb.

Lincoln let go the United States senatorship to win the presidency.

Washington won our independence by his masterly retreats.

Napoleon showed as much generalship in getting his broken army from Moscow to the Niemen as he did at Marston or Lech or Austerlitz.

General U. S. Grant was one of the last men to let go once he had a grip, but he had to give up his camel scheme at Vicksburg.

He is also who knows when he is whipped and gracefully acknowledges defeat, but begins again.

The veteran shipmaster knows there are times when it is childish to fight the storm and so lets his ship ride before the wind. When the storm is spent he takes his bearings and starts again for his port.

When the time comes let go! You are captain on the deck of your own vessel. Do not let it drift on to the rocks or take the heat out of yourself trying to sail in the teeth of the wind. It may be heroic to go down with the ship, but it is better to go battered into port.

Let go the impractical or harmful or unattainable. Let go!

"Be sure you are right, then go ahead," is a good maxim, but how about this one?

Be sure you are wrong, then stop!

"Race Suicide," Answer to Census Report Showing Decrease.
Bloomington, Ill., June 28.—It was suicide ascribed as one of several reasons for the failure of McLean county to show an increase in population in ten years. R. C. Moore, county superintendent of schools, said that there were 1,200 fewer children of school age in the county outside of Bloomington than ten years ago.

The high price of farm land, driving many small farmers to cheaper tracts of the west, is said to be another reason.

A GLEVER WOMAN

Some women are born handsome, but through carelessness and inattention grow plain and unattractive. The clever woman of today is the one who, though born into the world lacking natural beauty, has through keeping abreast of the times, and listening to the voice of reason, turned plainness into beauty.

Beautiful hair is more responsible for handsome women than any one factor, and for that reason every woman should use Parolan Sage, the greatest and quickest acting hair beautifier and rejuvenator in the world.

It gives to dull, faded and lifeless hair a lustrous and character that will, in a few days, increase the beauty of any woman.

Parolan Sage, the International hair restorer, does more: it stops falling hair, cures dandruff in two weeks, and immediately stops itching of the scalp. It is guaranteed by The People's Drug Co., to do all these things, or money back. Make up your mind today to try Parolan Sage on this liberal basis, and remember there is nothing just as good. 50 cents a large bottle at The People's Drug Co., or by express, all charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

BUT why on earth did you give her up, when you liked her so well?" we asked, when the witty lady announced that she was no longer employing the dressmaker whose praise she had sung so heartily the first of the season.

It was just the question the witty lady wanted asked. "My dears, did you ever hear her voice?" she launched forth.

"Well, that was why," went on the witty lady, while we all prepared to laugh at one of her sallies. "I simply couldn't stand it. It is a cross between the high C of the soprano in a country church and a strenuous whistle. It isn't so bad when you are just casually talking to her, because then you can retire carefully to the furthest corner of the room. But when you come to have your gown tried on, and she talks right into your ear, positively, it's unendurable."

"Why, I actually twisted my head so badly at the first fitting, trying to get out of the way, that I almost had a stiff neck that night."

"Someone suggested that I try putting cotton batting in my ears, and I did; and what do you think, she asked me if I was subject to encephalitis."

"I was surprised I wasn't stone deaf by the time she had that gown fitted."

Of course, we laughed. Who wouldn't, when it was told with all the detail and exaggeration and mimicry of which the witty lady is past mistress?

And yet if only some one could be found who wouldn't laugh, what a very splendid thing it would be for the witty lady. Do you know, I think there is no more dangerous gift than the gift of wit.

It is so terribly easy to use it unkindly. It is so fatally easy, if you have any facility that way, to drift into the habit of turning everyone's peculiarities into grist for your mill.

Some one is always ready to listen and laugh and approve, and before you know it, drunk with the wine of laughter and applause, you are betraying your friends and your convictions for the sake of winning a laugh or two more.

A woman whom I admire above all the men and women I know, in most things, is married by this gift. She is of a rarely sweet and loving nature, but it is so fatally easy for her to make people appear ridiculous by a single clever phrase or a single illuminating characterization that sometimes she is betrayed by her cleverness into a cruelty that seems utterly foreign to her nature.

I believe that the gift of wit, like the gift of beauty, makes it harder to be good.

But when one does win out thus handicapped, I think he has exceptionally much to be proud of.

To have great beauty is nothing to anyone's credit. But to have great beauty and not to be at all spoiled by it, not to neglect the cultivation of other charms and graces on account of it, is something, decidedly to one's credit.

To have a keen, natural wit is nothing particularly to one's credit. But to have a keen natural wit and also to have the strength of character never to use it unkindly certainly is something that one has a right to be very proud of.

New York, N. Y.—Active participation in the woman's suffrage movement has resulted in the wife of one New York millionaire and another woman of wealth, who is also a leader in New York society, being sued for $50,000 damages by a humble shirt waist manufacturer. This manufacturer of women's wearing apparel declares he was driven out of business by the recent strike of shirt waist makers and that his business was wrecked by the moral and financial support given the strikers by New York's society leaders.

lited to triple damages, as the act prescribes. This is the first time the Sherman law has been invoked in an action to collect damages from wealthy women or, so far as known, from any woman charged with violating the laws of commerce and trade.

The Woman's Trade Union League and the Waistmaker's union are named as co-defendants with Mrs. Belmont and Miss Milholland.

KEEPING COOL AND PLEASANT.

BY MARY RUSSELL.

"While waiting for my change at a counter the other day I fell into conversation with the pleasant-faced girl who had so amiably and unobtrusively helped me to make my selections. She was a little worn with the heat and had a tired look on her face, but she had not enough fresh air."

"I must be hard to please, always be pleasant from behind a counter," I said, with the little platitude of the person who is not tired. "I wonder if it isn't wise to always shop early in the day before the girls are worn out and grow cross."

"I try always to remember," she answered seriously, "that the shopper is not to blame if I am tired. If it were not for the people who buy I wouldn't be out of a job." She smiled amiably and sweetly and turned to wait another customer.

If we could only all of us try to remember that it is not the people with whom we come in contact who are to blame for our many disappointments, and thus refrain from taking out our various humors upon the innocent as well as the guilty, we would have accomplished something worth while.

Like the cross animal, we snap and snarl at our best friends if we are out of condition.

The hot weather fills the divorce courts as tempers wear thin and self-control melts.

It pays to keep a close watch on our angry selves. Remember that we are more than likely to blame if we are not pleasantly situated. Perhaps it is because of short sight that we have made failures, but deep down under every reason is the fundamental one that we either have not grasped opportunity, or we have chosen unwisely in some critical moment.

Ours is the part now to make the best of the bad bargains we have made in life. Ours to be pleasant and serene in the face of difficulties.

We do not lower the thermometer when we grow heated in temper or disagreeable in action.

Another thing that came to my mind as I listened to the pleasant little philosopher of the ribbon counter was that as men and women we could all shop earlier in the day and let the task for the girl behind the counter grow lighter instead of heavier as the long, warm day draws to a close.

We would be better off ourselves. If we would all seek the earlier hours perhaps the merchant would catch the fever and close a little earlier. Why keep open shop when no customers appear? We can help if we will all remember that while, of course, one early shopper cannot make reforms, we at least can do our part on principle. Do your best for the tired little wage-earner who is still cheerful and pleasant. Try to put yourself in her place and think how you would act if you were on the other side of the counter all day long.

Keep cool and pleasant is one of the best of recommendations for warm weather—and for cold also.

RECEPTION GOWN.

"Today our sketch portrays a gown displaying the latest tunic effect, making an ideal costume to be worn by a guest at a smart wedding or reception. As a material we suggest silk satin, shot with pale shades of green and pink, to be made up over soft green satin. The tunic is composed of pale green silk net, finely embroidered with silver, and at points where panels join there are long silver tassels to match the embroidery. The shoulders are prettily draped with fichu folds of pale green ninon de soie, outlined with silver embroidery, and the bodice is filled in with a chemise of fine ivory white Mechlin lace. The fichu draperies are held together in front by a large motif of silver embroidery."

Life is dependant upon continuous adaption to environment. Duration of life is determined by the capacity of the organism for adaption, and the suitability of the environment. Extensive variety in the food calls for an expenditure of vitality in adaption, which entails waste of energy, shortening life and producing disease. Other things being equal, the simpler the diet the longer the life, and the greater the freedom from disease. Animal and vegetable food differ so much, that the mixing of these is a source of waste of vitality, as the difference in the organism of carnivorous and herbivorous animals suggests.
